Worth International Airport was installed in 2002 and was specifically designed to use CB& I SoCool stratification fluid, patented by CB& I Storage Solutions. The use of SoCool fluid, at a 3 weight-percent solution,

In practical design, Thermal Energy Storage tanks should be placed as close as possible to chillers and loading facilities in order to minimize pipe work, transmission heat loss and pumping energy penalties. If the system requires pressurized tank, a cylindrical tank will be employed to accommodate BocaPCM panels with minimum by-pass.

systems, however, are measured by the term "Ton-Hours" (or kW-h). Figure 1 represents a theoretical cooling load of 100 tons maintained for 10 hours, or a 1000 ton-hour cooling load. Each of the 100 squares in the diagram represents 10 ton-hours. Realistically, no building air conditioning system operates
