

The good energy storage density and efficiency, together with much reduced Ag content make 40Na-65Ta a promising candidate for energy storage application. In order to further evaluate the AFE nature and energy storage performance of 40Na-65Ta ceramics, the related dependence on the electric field, frequency and temperature were then analyzed.

The GEN 3235 movement has upgraded from the pin bearing of the 3135 movement to the ball bearing, which greatly improves the winding efficiency of the movement (the 4130 movement is also ball bearing). VS and VR improve this part as well, but there are only 7 balls in inner grooves. The inner grooves of GEN are all filled with balls.

The heightened focus on energy storage is driven by the need for a reliable energy supply amidst frequent power outages and grid failures.
